

ELL1020 - English Language Learner Listening Comprehension and Speaking

Credits:	3 (3/0/0)
Description:	This course is for non-native learners of English. Students will develop the listening and speaking skills necessary for participating in college-level classroom discussion, incorporating oral presentation and fostering critical listening skills needed for taking notes and understanding lectures.
Prerequisites:
Corequisites:
Pre/Corequisites*:
Competencies:	<ol> <li>Identify and restate key points of a given speech, lecture or story.</li> <li>Distinguish lecture organization styles, including chronology, process, classification, comparison and causal analysis.</li> <li>Record useable notes through strategies designed for each lecture type.</li> <li>Create charts, graphs or graphics based on lecture content.</li> <li>Analyze lectures for meaning expressed by direct statements as well as inferred meaning.</li> <li>Practice pronunciation and enunciation features determined by the instructor.</li> <li>Practice appropriate listening skills in a variety of classroom situations including lectures, videos and student speeches.</li> <li>Create outlines for class presentations.</li> <li>Employ language appropriate to audience and situation while speaking.</li> </ol>
MnTC goal areas:	None

*Can be taking as a Prerequisite or Corequisite.